Many students feel they are independent because they currently live away from their custodial parents or are self-sufficient or because their parents no longer claim them on their income taxes. Others feel they should be considered independent because their custodial parents refuse to provide information on the FAFSA, or provide copies of federal tax documents, or because their parents refuse to help with college expenses. However, according to federal law, these reasons are NOT sufficient for a student to be considered independent. The Financial Aid Office is required to obtain and consider parent information for students who are not independent according to federal statute.

Exceptions are made only when adequate documentation of extenuating family circumstances exists. Extenuating circumstances are generally defined by students' inability or inadvisability to have contact with their parents. If none of these circumstances apply to your situation, do not complete this form.

To file a request to apply for financial aid as an independent student:

- Complete and sign the attached form.
- Attach your signed personal statement.
- Attach required documentation including any third-party documents.
- Complete and sign a WCU Independent Student Verification Worksheet.
- Attach your signed 2015 IRS tax return transcript & W-2 forms (or if you did not file, attach your W-2 forms or other documentation of your 2015 income).
- Attach all Year to Date pay stubs for all jobs held currently in 2017.
- Attach documentation of any untaxed or in-kind (expenses covered by others) support.
- File your 2017-2018 FAFSA on-line at www.fafsa.gov.

Incomplete and/or unsigned requests will be denied. The decision of the WCU financial aid office is final.

2017-2018 APPEAL TO BE AN INDEPENDENT STUDENT REQUEST FORM
Instructions for Third-Party Documentation

In extraordinary cases, while not required, the Financial Aid Office has the authority to use professional judgment to override a student's dependency status to make a student independent for the purpose of applying for financial aid.

Many students feel they are independent because they currently live away from custodial parents or because their parents no longer claim them on their income taxes or are self-supporting. Others feel they should be considered independent because their custodial parents refuse to provide information on the FAFSA or provide federal tax forms or because their parents refuse to help with college expenses. However, according to federal law, none of these are acceptable reasons for a successful appeal. A student must be unable to obtain his/her parents' information because of extenuating circumstances.

Students must submit the 'Appeal to be an Independent Student Request Form' and neutral third-party reference letter to the Financial Aid Office for consideration of a dependency override. The information stated on the form must be verified by third-party references that are aware of and can verify the student's background (see the form for the number of statements required). Examples include, but are not limited to: employer, clergy, social worker, attorney, court official, teacher, counselor, psychiatrist, psychologist, medical professional, or law enforcement agent.

Instructions to Neutral Third-Party Reference:

Third-party documentation must be on a separate sheet of letterhead paper. Please include any information of which you have firsthand knowledge and that you feel best describes the student's situation. The following is a list of information that MUST be included in your letter:

1. How long you have known the student.
2. Your professional relationship to the student.
3. The last time the student lived with and/or received financial support from his/her parents.
4. Any knowledge you have of the student's relationship with his/her parents (not hearsay).
5. Steps the student has taken to establish independence from his/her parents.
6. If the courts, or other appropriate parties have advised against the student having further contact with the parents.

Please make sure to include your professional title, name and type of business, business address, telephone number, and where to contact you should any additional information be required.

Please understand that by providing the information on the third-party letter you are certifying that it is true and correct and that to falsify any information on your letter is a felony and can be punishable by a $20,000 fine, imprisonment, or both.

Thank You.

Attach a dated and signed, legible personal statement which completely and explicitly explains the basis of your request. Remember to include either your Social Security number or preferably your WCU ID. The information will be held in strictest confidence. Attach documentation which verifies all the facts of your request. Required sources of documentation are listed below according to the reason for your request.

Check off the reason listed below which comes closest to your situation. If you do not meet any of the reasons call the WCU Financial Aid Office:

- 1. Severe circumstances prevent you from obtaining your custodial parents' financial information. Examples:
- a) A documented abusive home situation which is detrimental to your physical or mental well-being
  - b) Abandonment by both parents prior to your junior year in high school
  - c) A substantial history of severe parental alcohol or drug abuse
  - d) Incarceration of the custodial parent
  - e) Long term or permanent hospitalization of the custodial parent
- 2. The death of a custodial parent after filing the FAFSA and the surviving parent meets one of the conditions listed above in number 1.

Required documentation for numbers 1 or 2 above: Signed statement from an adult professional who is not a family member which verifies the family circumstances described in your personal statement. Adult professionals include clergy, attorneys, school guidance counselors, medical doctors, mental health professionals, teachers or professors, law enforcement officers, professional staff of Children and Family Services (Public Assistance Department), and officers of the court. Letters must be signed originals on agency letterhead with the professional title (Counselor, Rabbi, etc.). Personal references which do not represent an agency opinion must be notarized.

- 3. You are a non-citizen of the United States of America (who is otherwise eligible to receive Federal financial aid) and your custodial parents currently reside in a foreign country. However, you are unable to communicate with your parents because of a long-standing diplomatic policy OR civil unrest in your parents' country of residence.

Required documentation: Signed statements from the embassy or consulate of the country in which your custodial parents live which clearly states that policies of that country or of the United States of America prevent mail and funds to be readily transferred between residents of the United States and their country. If an official government statement is not readily available, a similar statement from a refugee organization on their letterhead is acceptable. In addition, a notarized statement from your sponsors (if applicable) or a family member verifying the level and type of support you receive from family, friends, or sponsors.

- 4. Your prior status as married was the only reason you were considered independent on a previous FAFSA, but you are now divorced and are not remarried. You now maintain a separate residence from your parents/in-laws/spouse and pay all expenses from your own income and assets, and are not claimed by any of them on their tax forms.

Required documentation: Complete copies of your marriage license(s), divorce decree(s), IRS "Tax Return Transcript" and W-2 forms for the period in which you were married, and mortgage or rental agreements for the period in which you were married. A signed and notarized statement from both of your parents verifying amounts of financial support of any kind (other than reasonable gifts for birthdays and holidays) or the absence of such support after you married.

- 5. You have extenuating circumstances not described above which prevent you from having contact with your parents to obtain parental information for FAFSA filing.

Required documentation: Signed statements from an adult professional who is not a family member which verifies that your extenuating circumstances prevent you from having contact with your parents. Adult professionals include clergy members, attorneys, school guidance counselors, medical doctors, mental health professionals, teachers or professors, law enforcement officers, professional staff of Children and Family Services (Public Assistance Department), and officers of the court. Letters must be signed originals on agency letterhead with the professional title (Counselor, Rabbi, etc.). Personal references which do not represent an agency opinion must be notarized.
