Who Should Attend?

This program is appropriate for professional speech-language pathologists (SLPs) and for SLP students with an interest in interprofessional collaboration (IPC). The specific focus will be on IPC in settings where professionals in applied behavior analysis (ABA) share overlapping responsibilities with SLPs in the service of individuals with autism spectrum disorders (ASD).

Program Summary

Individuals with ASD present with a spectrum of challenges, and it takes a village of caring professionals to support their spectrum of needs. SLP and ABA professionals are important members of that village, and constructive IPC is crucial to quality service delivery. However, the data indicate that SLP-ABA collaboration is not always without challenges. Some challenges arise from insufficient information about the science of ABA and about the qualifications of ABA service providers. Others arise from a dearth of information about strategies for resolving differences in clinical approaches. The purpose of this presentation is to examine some of these challenges, to provide authentic information about ABA, and to consider strategies used by SLP and ABA professionals based on their experiences of successful IPC. Clinical examples will be provided throughout the presentation.

Biography

- Jennifer Dawson, Ph.D., BCBA, BSL is Clinical Director at the Southeastern Pennsylvania Autism Resource Center (SPARC) and an adjunct instructor at West Chester University (WCU).
- Cherie Fishbaugh, M.S., BCBA, BSL, is a Behavior Analyst and Supervisor at SPARC. She also serves as an adjunct instructor at WCU.
- Joanne Gerenser, Ph.D., CCC-SLP, is the Executive Director of Eden II Programs in Staten Island, NY. She serves as an adjunct Assistant Professor at Brooklyn College and Penn State University.

Learner Objectives

Participants will be able to:

1. Describe challenges to SLP-ABA collaboration based on previous survey research and from feedback gained through regional focus groups and national discussion groups.
2. Describe the basic principles of ABA and the teaching strategies based on these principles.
3. Describe similarities and differences in the scopes of practice for SLP and ABA professionals
4. Describe strategies for integrating ABA with other frameworks to support the speech, language, and social-communication needs of individuals with ASD.

Accreditation

APPROVED PROVIDER
ASHA
CONTINUING EDUCATION
AMERICAN SPEECH-LANGUAGE-HEARING ASSOCIATION

The Pennsylvania Speech-Language-Hearing Association is approved by the Continuing Education Board of the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association (ASHA) to provide continuing education activities in speech-language pathology and audiology. See course information for number of ASHA CEUs, instructional level and content area. ASHA CE Provider approval does not imply endorsement of course content, specific products or clinical procedures.

This course is offered for 0.6 ASHA CEUs (Intermediate level, Professional area.)

ACT48 Credits

PSHA is an approved provider by the Pennsylvania Department of Education to sponsor Continuing Education programs as required by ACT 48. This program is offered for 6 clock hours. Individuals attending the program must arrive on time and stay the duration of the program in order to receive Act 48 Professional Education hours.

Meals

Your registration fee includes beverages in the morning and lunch. Lunch will be served during the career fair.

Special Needs

Accommodations for individuals with disabilities are available upon request by calling the Office of Conference Services at 610-436-6931. Participants should make their needs known as soon as possible, but not less than one week in advance, to allow time to make the necessary arrangements.

Career Fair

In conjunction with the professional conference, West Chester University and NSSLHA are offering conference participants access to area employers. Participants will have the opportunity to speak with companies who are seeking to hire area professionals. The support and participation of these companies help subsidize the cost of the conference and are the primary reason for the reduced registration fee. Inclusion of these companies, however, does not imply endorsement from West Chester University or NSSLHA. The Department of Communicative Disorder's Professional Advisory Board will be meeting during Lunch. All alumni are welcome to attend
