

How much of who we are is shaped by invisible forces? The Bias Inside Us, a traveling exhibition from the Smithsonian's SITES, invites you to explore how implicit bias forms and influences our thoughts, decisions, and communities.

Through interactive displays, compelling videos, and personal storytelling, you will confront how bias lives within all of us and learn tools to reshape it.

Join us for a thought-provoking experience that sparks conversations and helps build more inclusive communities.

Admission is FREE for WCU students who sign up for a FREE student membership

Chester County History Center
225 N. High Street, West Chester, PA 19380
mycchc.org/bias