

Nakyna Garfield-Desphy,

Class of 2018

Being in the YES program has shaped my college career in many ways, as well as how I value other people, my community and how I identify myself in my community. This program opened me to so many opportunities to be involved on and off campus, long lasting personal and business partnerships and friendships. If I could do it all over again I would. Being a YES student and working in the department is tough but it was all greatness in the end. Post-undergrad I will be serving a year for City Year Philadelphia! After that, prayerfully, I get the opportunity to attend the Urban Education and Educational Policy, M.Ed program at Temple University.
