SCHOLARSHIP

Current Research Projects

ESTABLISHING A MOTIVATIONAL INTERVIEWING (MI) COMMUNITY OF PRACTICE WITH SOCIAL WORK STUDENTS

- Principal Investigator
- Submitted FaStR grant proposal to WCU Foundation October, 2015
- This multi-department study will develop, implement, manage, and evaluate the feasibility of a Community of Practice (CoP) with and for students following completion of a Motivational Interviewing course.
- Results will be used to develop funding proposals to evaluate the MI CoP on a more expansive basis for replication in the community.
- IRB approval will be sought as soon as notification of award is received.
- This is a collaboration with 2 WCU graduate student workers.

MOTIVATIONAL INTERVIEWING: WHAT SOCIAL WORKERS BRING TO HEALTH CARE REFORM

- Co-Investigator with Dr. Casey Bohrman of WCU and Dr. Victoria Stanhope of NYU.
- Received IRB approval to examine post-MI workshop data, not to present data as an empirical report, report lessons learned that strengthen the call for a niche position for social work in the era of healthcare reform.
- Quantitative and qualitative evaluation data from 291 participants over two years were aggregated to an excel file for analysis.
- Participants in workshops comprised mostly of nursing students (229), some were medical students (23), and remaining participants were field instructors or graduate students in social work. This research draws attention to the important role that Motivational Interviewing (MI) can have in integrated health settings and how social workers are uniquely qualified not only to implement MI, but to lead in training other health care professions in this valuable intervention.

MOTHERHOOD, ALCOHOL USE AND INTIMATE PARTNER VIOLENCE

- Co-Investigator with Dr. Casey Bohrman of WCU
- Qualitative study focusing on mothers' narratives to understand how 'motherhood' promotes or hinders specific behavior changes related to safety seeking for IPV or reducing drinking
- Audiotapes derived from Dr. Karen Rhodes' NIAAA funded RO1, "An RCT of Brief MI Intervention for Problem Drinking and Partner Violence."

- Analysis complete and finalizing a draft manuscript
- IRB approval received in December 2013
- Conference abstract submitted to Society for Social Work and Research Annual Meeting

CONVERSATIONS ABOUT INTIMACY AND SEXUALITY

- Co-Principal Investigator with Dr. Mark Salzer (Temple University)
- Mixed-methods study focusing on provider attitudes and behaviors related to conversations about sexuality and intimacy with clients diagnosed with mental health conditions
- The aim of the research is to develop a contemporary and more nuanced understanding of provider knowledge, attitudes, and behaviors related to having conversations about sexuality and intimacy with their clients who are diagnosed with mental health conditions.
- Data will be utilized to shape a modular training toolkit.
- Collaboration with 1 WCU graduate student
