

Seminars in Field Instruction 2021-2022

This Seminar in Field Instruction (SIFI) series of seven 3-hour sessions is designed for field instructors of undergraduate and graduate social work students. Each session will be a blend of lecture, discussion, interactive exercises and time for participants to present issues, questions and/or concerns arising from the supervisory relationship.

Field instructors who have not yet completed the SIFI course at WCU or another accredited social work program are expected to attend. However, ALL social work field instructors are invited and welcome to attend regardless of years of service or the number of students previously supervised.

All Sessions will be held online via Zoom.

Please test audio/microphone prior to joining. We look forward to virtually connecting with you!
