Comcast - Potential Opportunities for Applied Statistics Program

Comcast Spotlight group, based out of West Chester, PA is currently looking for a Data Engineer to join their team. They work with data collected through ads and commercials, literally billions of rows of data. The role will involve statistically analyzing, pulling and presenting information from this collection. (Ex. Reading research on sports fans in an effort to complement the analytics we're doing, because sports is truly driving viewership trends in cities that are higher in fan loyalty).

Their EBI (Enterprise Business Intelligence) team will be doubling in size over the next couple of Quarters and will be hiring several analytics professionals in support of their rapid expansion at a variety of levels. They'll be hiring in Philadelphia, Denver, Atlanta, Manchester, NH and in the San Francisco area.

If interested, please contact Dr. Rieger at rrieger@wcupa.edu for more information.